Exchange & Broker's Office,

Georgetown, District of Columbia.

ROMULUS RIGGS,

AT his office, next door below Crawford's tavern. Bridge-st. Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on. August 18

MELOLOGUE,

Written by the elegant translator of Anacreon, Mr. Thomas Moore, and spoken by Mrs. Bartley at the Theatres in Washington and Alexandria.—Copied from a British publication.

(STRAIN OF MUSIC.)

THERE breathes the language known and felt,
Far as the pure air spreads its living zone;
Wherever rage can rouse or pity melt
That language of the soul is felt and known.
From those meridian plains,
Where oft of old, on some high tower,
The soft Peruvian poured his midnight strains,
And called his distant love with such sweet power,
That when she heard the well-known lay,
Not worlds could keep her from his arms away,
To those black realms of polar night,
Where the youth of Lapland's sky,
Bids his rapid rein-deer fly,
And sings along the darkling waste of snow,
As blight as if the blessed light
Of vernal Phœbus burn'd upon his brow.
Oh music! thy celestial claim
Is still resistless, still the same,
And faithful as the mighty sea
To the pale star that o'er its realm presides,
The spell-bound tides
Of human passion rise and fall for thee.

(GREEK AIR.)

List! 'tis a Grecian maid that sings,
While from Ilyssus' silvery springs,
She draws the cool lymph in her graceful urn,
While by her side in music's charm dissolving,
Some patriot youth the glorious past revolving,
Dreams of bright days that never can return.
When Athens nursed her olive bough
With hands by tyrant power unchained,
And braided for the Muses brow
A wreath by tyrant touch unstained,
When heroes trod each classic field,
Where coward feet now faintly falter,
And every arm was freedom's shield,
And every heart was freedom's altar.

(GREEK AIR, INTERRUPTED BY A TRUMPET.)

Hark! 'tis the sound that charms
The war-steed's wakening ears—
Oh—many a mother folds her arms
Round her boy soldier, when that sound she hears,
And tho' her fond heart sinks with fears,
Is proud to feel his young pulse bound
With valor's fever at the sound.
See from his native hills afar
The rude Helvetian flies to war,
Careless for what, for whom he fights,
For slave or despot, wrongs or rights,
A conqueror oft, a hero never,
Yet lavish of his life-blood still,
As if 'twere like his mountain rill,
And gushed for ever.
Oh music! here, even here,
Thy soul-felt charm asserts its wond'rous power;
There is an air, which oft among the rocks
Of his own lov'd land, at evening hour [flocks:
Is heard, when shepherds homeward pipe their
Oh! every note of it would thrill his mind
With tenderest thoughts, and bring about his knees
The rosy children whom he left behind,
And fill each little angel eye
With speaking tears, that ask him, why
He wandered from his hut to scenes like these?
Vain, vain is then, the trumpet's brazen roar,
Sweet notes of home, of love, are all he hears;
And the stern eyes that looked for blood before,
Now melting mournful, lose themselves in tears.

(RENDS DE VACHE INTERRUPTED BY A TRUMPET.)

But wake the trumpet's blast again,
And rouse the ranks of warrior men.
Oh war!—when truth thy arm employs,
And freedom's spirit guides the laboring storm,
Thy vengeance takes a hallowed form,
And like heaven's lightning, sacredly destroys.
Nor music, thro' thy breathing sphere
Lives there a sound more grateful to the ear
Of HIM who made all harmony,
Than the blest sound of fetters breaking,
And the first hymn that man awaking
From slavery's slumber, breathes to liberty.

(SPANISH PATRIOT'S SONG.)

Hark! from Spain, indignant Spain,
Bursts the bold enthusiast strain,
Like morning's music on the air,
And seems in every note to swear,
By Saragossa's ruined streets,
By brave Gerona's deathful story,
That while one Spaniard's life-blood beats,
That blood shall stain a conqueror's glory.

(SPANISH AIR CONCLUDED.)

But ah! if vain the patriot Spaniards' zeal—
If neither valor's force, nor wisdom's lights,
Can break or melt the blood cemented seal
That shuts to close the book of Europe's rights,
What song shall then in sadness tell,
Of broken pride, of prospects shaded,
Of buried hopes remembered well,
Of ardor quenched, and honor faded;
What Muse shall mourn the faithful brave,
In sweetest dirge at memory's shrine;
What harp shall sigh o'er freedom's grave?
Oh! Erin! thine.

(MELANCHOLY IRISH AIR, SUCCEEDED BY A LIVELY ONE.)

Blest notes of mirth, ye spring from sorrow's lay,
Like the blest vesper of the bird that sings
In the bright sunset of an April day,
While the cold shower yet hangs upon his wings.
Long may the Irish heart repeat
An echo to these lively strains,
And when the stranger's ears shall meet
That melody on distant plains,
Oh! he will feel his soul expand
With grateful warmth, and sighing, say—
Thus speaks the music of the land,
Where welcome ever lights the stranger's way,
When still the woe of others to beguile,
Is even the gayest heart's most lov'd employ;
Where grief herself will generously smile
Through dewdrops, tears to share another's joy.

ALEXANDRIA:
FRIDAY, MARCH 26, 1819.

We are requested to state that John Linton, esq. of Prince William, is a candidate for the senate, to represent the counties of Fairfax and Prince William, in the place of John Love, esq. who has vacated his seat.

We yield to the request of some of our subscribers, by publishing the following extract of a letter from Buckingham to a gentleman in this city:—

[Richmond Enquirer.

"Since writing we are requested to say to you, that a number of gentlemen in the lower end of Mr. Randolph's district had lately written to him, and invited him to return to public life; to which he answered, that he will with pleasure become a candidate and attend the elections, and that he feels honored by their confidence. It is believed that there is not a man in the district who feels a disposition to oppose him, and but few who will not be pleased at his taking a seat in the next congress."

The wanton killing of an Indian ought to be visited with the severest punishment. By an act of this sort, perpetrated in the latter end of January, by a person of the name of James Thompson, on an Indian belonging to the Fox tribe—all the settlements on the Salt river are thrown into the utmost alarm, from the certainty of being visited by the retaliation which Indian law assigns as the punishment due to murder, unless the offender shall be apprehended and brought to justice, with which the Indians have declared they will be satisfied.

[National Intelligencer.

From the National Intelligencer.

REPLY to the STRICTURES on the REPORT of the COMMITTEE of the SENATE.

(Concluded.)

In a postscript to the strictures, it is stated that Gen. Jackson told a member of the committee that he was willing to go before them and disclose all the documents in his possession.

If gen. Jackson did say this to a member, it must have been designed as an insult to the committee and to the Senate—he must have considered that body in the light of subalterns in the army, and he therefore condescends to tell them that he is willing to appear before their committee.

That committee was vested by the Senate with full power to call every officer in the government before them, and it was not necessary for the general to have given this evidence of his great condescension, to have put them in mind of the extent of their powers or their obligations of duty to the Senate.

The reasons for not calling general Jackson before the committee, were of a different character, arising from the peculiar situation in which he officially stood, and his connexion with the subject of enquiry. But, if the general was willing to disclose other documents to the committee, why were not those documents transmitted to the executive department of government and filled in the war office, from which they might have been obtained; or, at least left to presume that General Jackson is in possession of facts of an official nature, that he will not condescend to lay before the president of the U. S. to whom he should feel himself responsible for his conduct?

There is one charge in the strictures that applies exclusively to the chairman of the committee—that of being a partner with the contractor—the fallacy of this charge, as well as its deliberate design to inflict a private injury on a man, whose only offence was an independent discharge of official duties, is fully proven by the annexed deposition of the contractor himself, Colonel Benjamin G. Orr, who is now the mayor of the City of Washington.

I shall now close these observations, which have been extorted from me by the peculiar and virulent character of the Strictures in question, and the source from whence they emanated. It is hoped, to the honor of the nation, as it is the first, that it may be the last occasion that may occur, to impose a similar duty on a member of the national legislature; that in future no military officer of government, either humble or exalted, will so far lose sight of the duty and respect due to the civil authorities of the nation, as to fall into similar errors—and, if reason were for a moment allowed to assume its empire in the minds of the most violent among them, it would be discovered, that inevitable disgrace to the individual concerned would be the consequence of such measures, perhaps the prostration of the army, whose very existence does and ought to depend on a conviction in the public mind, that the military department of the government is subject to & subordinate to the civil powers.

While this principle is practically observed by the officers of the army, that establishment will be found useful, but, once abandoned, the army becomes dangerous to public liberty, and ought and should be reduced.

These observations arise not, as is alledged, from "splenetic hostility to the army," but with a sincere desire to preserve and make it useful—and time will discover, unless a change of conduct is observed, that from the deadliest enemies of the army are to be found some of the officers who command it. And under these impressions, and in the spirit of sincere friendship to those officers, the writer ventures to tender to them this honest advice: That they chasten and moderate their tempers, and restrain the violence of their rage against the civil officers of government, and, instead of cutting off the ears of members of Congress, sharpen their swords to meet their countries enemies in the field, when shall be so directed by the civil powers. Let them "cease to do evil and learn to do well"—never forgetting that they too are subject to legal control, and but at best "subordinate" servant's in the great political household.

If this advice be taken, their former transgressions may be forgiven and forgotten by a magnanimous people, who still remember with gratitude and pride, their former services. But if this wholesome and friendly advice be disregarded—and, if, in despite of the dictates of prudence and reason, they will persevere in this career of madness and folly, they must perish in their military sins, and will, perhaps when it is too late, be fully convinced that it would have contributed to their true interest and honor, to have listened to, and follow the frank and candid admonitions of their friend, &c. A. LACOCK.

Extract from the Journal of the Senate.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 17, 1819.

Mr. Lacock submitted the following motion:

Resolved, That a member be added to the committee already appointed on the subject of the Seminole war, in the place of Mr. Forsyth, who has recently been appointed to a foreign mission.

On motion of Mr. Eaton.

That the further consideraton thereof be postponed until the 5th day of March next. It was determined in the negative. Yeas, 16—Nays, 21.

On motion of Mr. Lacock,

The yeas and nays being required by one fifth of the members present, those who voted in the affirmative are Messrs. Crittenden, Dickerson, Eaton, Edwards, Fromentin, Johnson, King, Le ke Morrow; Otis, Ruggles, Sanford, Stokes, Storer, Williams, of Miss. Wilson.

Those who voted in the negative are—

Messrs. Barbour, Burrill, Dagget, Eppes, Gaillard, Goldsborough, Horsey, Hunter, Lacock, Macon, Mellen, Noble, Palmer, Roberts, Tait, Talbot, Taylor, Thomas, Tichenor, Vandyke, Williams, of Tenn.

The motion having been agreed to—Ordered, That Mr. Eppes be the member.

Washington county, D. of Columbia to wit,

Personally appeared before the subscriber, a Justice of the Peace for the county aforesaid, Benjamin G. Orr, and made oath on the Holy Evangelists of Almighty God that Abner Lacock, esq. late a Senator from the state of Pensylvania, was not directly or indirectly concerned with him in any contract which he has had with the War Department, at any time and particularly with that for the state of Georgia, which the author of the Strictures on the report of the select committee, says "it has been intimated that" he "was interested" in, neither was his son at all concerned further than as an agent, at a stated salary per annum.

The deponent further says, that, a few days prior to the appearance of the "strictures," in conversation with Gen. Jackson, on the subject of the report of the committee of the Senate, he was asked by the Gen. if Mr. Lacock, who had been his agent at Fort Scott, was the son of the Senator of that name and on being answered in the affirmative; he further asked, if he might so state it; the deponent replied, that as a fact, he might dispose of it as he pleased; but as he could not perceive any connection between it and the subject of the report of the committee; and, having been told that morning that a suspicion was entertained that Gen. Lacock had been a partner in his Georgia contract, the deponent took that opportunity of assuring Gen. Jackson that it was wholly without foundation, which the General admitted he had been apprised of. And further this deponent saith not.

Sworn before me, this 17th day of March, 1819. JOSEPH FORREST.

PRISONER ESCAPED.

We learn that early last evening, Martin Toohey, convicted of the murder of James Gadsden, Esq. made his escape from the jail in this city. We are not informed of the particulars, but understand that the turnkey disappeared with the prisoner, and that Toohey's irons were left in his room uninjured. It behoves every good citizen to be on the alert, lest he should be the next victim to the assassin's dagger.

A letter from Kingston. (Jam.) received via Havana, dated 27th Feb. says—"Sir Home Popham's instructions continue the same as formerly; we are therefore still without any prospect of having a direct conveyance to your port, unless by U. States vessels of war. The Firebrand was here lately from New-Orleans, but she came at a time when the Sheerwater was appointed for the same place, in consequence of which she got little money. The John Adams was also here ten days ago, understood to be on bill negociation, but our rate of exchange being considered too low, she proceeded to Vera Cruz, without money." [Ibid.

Captain Cromwell who came passenger in the schr. Montpelier, from St. Thomas, has politely furnished a list of vessels left at that place on the 7th inst. and the following interesting information:—

"The brig Josephine, of Philadelphia, from Laguira, had been captured by the Venezuelan brig Oronoco, capt, Debouil, in the Mona Passage, on the 27th January. The captain and crew were put on board an English schooner, and arrived at St. Thomas. Captain Hampton and his mate came passengers in the Montpelier.

On the 27th Feb. the Venezuelian fleet, under Com. Jolly, consisting of one ship, 4 brigs and 3 schooners, were off St. Thomas Adm. Brion has declared capt. Debouil a pirate, and the fleet sailed in search of him. The Danish government had sent a sloop of war and schooner in search of Debouil; they fell in with him, the Josephine in company, but they escaped by superior sailing. The Danish sloop of war had captured a small schooner under the Venezuelian flag, which they brought into St. Thomas; the vessel has been sunk, and the crew are to be sent to Copenhagen to be tried as pirates.

The Montpelier on leaving Sail Rock Passage, was chased 8 hours by the Oronoco, the brig Josephine in co; but escaped by superior sailing. The Montpelier has been on the coast several days, and experienced very heavy weather."

As letters are more frequently directed the latter way, and are consequently charged with the postage, you will be doing a general service, not only to publish this yourselves, but to request your brother editors throughout the union to give it all the publicity possible."

Died,

At Hazle Wood, in Prince William county, Va. Mrs. LUCY FOOTE, the consort of Richard Foote, Esq. after a few day's indisposition.

This lady was exemplary as a wife, and as a christian, pious, humble and resigned. Death was quick and overwhelming in his blow, yet he found her not unprepared. Though returned to that "bourne from which no traveller returneth," the light of her countenance in the cold grapple of death gave surety to her sorrowful friends and dependants that she abounded in faith and grace. "He that believeth in me," saith the Lord, "though he be dead yet shall he live."

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain; being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.
September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirious of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or
